Council says no to retail park bid

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

COUNCILLORS have objected to a plan for a new Haverhill retail and business park, saying it fails to meet national planning guidelines designed to protect town centres.

Cambridge-based HPG (Developments) Ltd recently unveiled its plan for Hamlet Green, a mixed-use regeneration scheme on the former Project Office Furniture site which has been vacant since the factory closed and the buildings were demolished.

It includes a range of retail uses such as builders' merchants, a family restaurant and four warehouse units selling bulky goods at the front of the site, with business start-up units at the rear.

The developer held exhibitions and consultations and said it received positive feedback to the plan. It claims the park would help the town centre by encouraging people to shop locally, rather than travelling to Bury St Edmunds or Cambridge.

Haverhill Town Council's planning committee said it supported some aspects of the plan, but overall it was opposed.

Cllr Paul McManus, chairman of the committee, questioned whether the site was right for the proposal.

Robin set to take bow in town park

A TOWN park will be transformed into Sherwood Forest when Cambridge Touring Theatre takes to the road for the eighth year with a performance of Robin Hood.

The group performs fun, family theatre at some of the most picturesque spots in the country, where they sing, dance, steal sandwiches and spray their audience with water.

They will be at Haverhill's East Town Park in Coupsals Road on Saturday, July 24, from 5-7pm.

They also run a programme of drama workshops aimed at 5-12 year olds which run alongside the performance. These last 45 minutes and the company works with the children on the story of Robin Hood, taking them through some of his adventures in Sherwood and introducing the children to some of the characters from the play.

This production has been especially written for the family audience with lots of jokes, fun for all, audience participation, songs and dances.

Robin has retreated to Sherwood Forest with a band of faithful followers in an attempt to defeat the 'not very nice' Sheriff of Nottingham. Mishaps abound as they wait for their chance to reclaim the throne for the rightful King of England.

This group of dedicated performers is headed up by Rosie Humphreys who moved to Cambridge after working for the English National Opera in London.

She said: "We have a very strong family feel to the company."

"All performers are chosen because they enjoy working with families."

Tickets are available from Haverhill Arts Centre on (01440) 714140.

Fun in the forest: Cambridge Touring Theatre will be bringing Robin Hood to Haverhill's East Town Park in July.

Police target drink drivers

A CRACKDOWN on people who drive while under the influence of drink and drugs has been launched.

More roadside checks and breath tests will be carried out by Suffolk police as part of a month-long campaign, launched this week.

There has been an increase in the number of fatal road accidents in the county in which alcohol or drugs was a contributing factor, up from 19 per cent in 2008 to 24 per cent last year.

Roadside checks will be stepped up and officers will be breath-testing anyone involved in a collision, however minor.

Police are also urging the public to report those who they know are drink drivers.

Chief Inspector Adrian Dawson said: "Suffolk Constabulary is committed to tackling drink and drug driving and we are warning those who think they can break the law that they are more likely than ever to get caught."

"The percentage of road traffic collisions where alcohol or drugs was a contributing factor speaks for itself. Those offending need to realise that they are not just putting themselves at risk but other innocent road users as well. This is a very serious issue and can have severe consequences."

'Professional' thief admits 60 offences

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A "PROFESSIONAL burglar" who admitted more than 60 offences in West Suffolk and Cambridgeshire has been jailed for four and a half years.

Dale Cassidy was caught after breaking into two homes in Kedington and owned up to a further 60 offences, which police said had helped close the files on a large number of unsolved cases and bring closure for some victims.

Despite Cassidy's admissions, property taken in raids dating as far back as 1990 and valued at £48,500 remained un-recovered, Ipswich

Crown Court heard last Thursday.

Cassidy, 29, was arrested following a burglary at a house at Pineview, Kedington, on January 19 when a DVD player and a safe were stolen.

Prosecutor Naomi Turner said on the same day he had also broken into another house at Inglenook, Kedington.

Cassidy pleaded guilty to two charges of burglary and asked for 60 other offences of burglary and theft to be taken into consideration.

Samantha Leigh, mitigating, said that despite Cassidy's long history of offending he had expressed genuine remorse for his actions and had pleaded guilty at the earliest opportunity.

Cassidy, of The Vinefields, Bury St Edmunds, had 21 previous convictions for 57 separate offences, 29 of them involving dishonesty.

Judge Rupert Overbury told Cassidy that taking into account his past record and the current offences, he was a "professional burglar".

He said: "Those who invade the privacy of other people's homes can expect little sympathy from the courts."

Teachers' union canes academy proposals

GOVERNMENT plans to encourage schools to become autonomous academies are "a brazen attack on publicly run education", according to teachers in Cambridgeshire.

Education secretary Michael Gove has written to all schools in the country – including, for the first time, primaries and special schools – inviting them to become academies.

This means they would be state-funded, but would be free from local authority control.

But Tom Woodcock, spokesman for the Cambridgeshire branch of the National Union of Teachers (NUT), blasted the scheme.

He said: "Far from giving more control to parents and teachers, the Government's new proposals will take schools further away from community control and put our education system in the hands of profit-driven companies who will run them in the interest of the banks and shareholders.

"This is a brazen attack on publicly run education. Where these models have been implemented we have seen cuts in the service and a reduction in educational standards."

Success for police on high-visibility patrols

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A CRACKDOWN on anti-social behaviour on the first night of the Bank Holiday weekend has been hailed a success – with only two complaints made to police.

Haverhill's new Inspector Chris Galley said he was very pleased with the way the operation went last Friday and said it would be repeated as needed in future.

Safer Neighbourhood Team officers wearing headcams, with which incidents could be filmed, were out on high-visibility patrols, joined by Special Constables and other specialist officers.

Insp Galley said: "We ended up having only two anti-social behaviour incidents reported that evening, which was really good.

"We had three encounters associated with controlled substances and we did deal with some young people from whom alcohol was seized. Officers were out on high-visibility patrol around the town and the estates and it is a credit to the young people that those we did meet did not offer any particular problems to us.

"I spoke to several people as we walked around and they were pleased to see police officers out on foot patrol, which is something I am hoping to continue. We will have similar events in the future. I think it is useful for people to know that we are about there and we will continue to give attention to the area around the Railway Walk, while it continues to be a priority for residents in the area.

"It is still half-term and we are going to have another hot weekend, so we will still be out and about this weekend making sure that anti-social behaviour is not a problem."

Insp Galley is keen to involve the public in raising their issues of concern at local Safer Neighbourhood Team street meets and also at regular tasking meetings, which set priorities for local officers. The next one will be at Haverhill Police Station in Ehringshausen Way, Haverhill, on Thursday, June 10, at 2pm and everyone is welcome to attend.

Best foot forward: children who attend the pre-school based at Coupals School, Haverhill, walked to the 'tractor' park in Howe Road before enjoying a garden party. It is hoped the event will have raised £300. CP

Pupils join parishioners to raise church funds

CHILDREN will be putting on their walking shoes this weekend when they join a sponsored walk to help boost funds for a new church building in Haverhill.

Pupils from St Felix Primary School will join parishioners from St Felix Roman Catholic Church on the walk, which will start from Tesco car park at 12.30pm on Sunday.

The walk, over a distance of just under a mile, will be along Railway Walk, before a picnic is held in the East Town Park. Walkers will then return to the Tesco car park to complete the walk.

Planning consent has recently been granted for a new Catholic Church to be built next to the existing one at Princess Way.

The walk and picnic have been organised this year instead of a school fete, which has been postponed due to building work at the school site.

Organisers have asked children to take a teddy with them to help them along the way.

If the walk proves a success, it could become an annual event.

Councillors object to plans for retail park

Cllr McManus added that, as it stood, the current plans did not comply with planning policies, but he hoped alternative ideas to meet the guidelines could be found.

He said: "It would certainly be nice to see that site developed in accordance with the rules set down and I look forward to seeing that happen sooner rather than later. We do want this kind of development, but it has got to be in the right place.

"We want to try and keep the town centre viable and not have out-of-town sites developed with shops that will jeopardise the ones in the town centre already.

"It is very important that we keep the town centre vibrant and keep getting new shops in the town centre, rather than away from it.

"We are trying to encourage better, new shops like Marks and Spencers or Mataland to come. We have got to keep our town centre and that includes the market, because Haverhill is a market town."

The committee said its main objection was that substantial elements of the plan failed to comply with national and local policies, particularly those involving retail units. One policy requires planning authorities to assess the need for additional retail development. Town council planners noted that St Edmundsbury Borough Council's own retail report, commissioned before the economic downturn, forecast that there would be under trading in Haverhill's town centre, and the committee agreed the development would further contribute to the problem.

The planners also said: "There are already existing proposed retail sites in the Local Plan that are closer to the town centre than this site, which is not currently zoned for retail use."

At a presentation to Haverhill Town Council earlier this year, William Jewson, of HPG, which bought the six-acre Hamlet Green site in 2008, said the park would complement existing businesses in the town and that it was likely that tenants on the site would sell bulky items such as sofas, carpets and white goods.

The plans have been submitted to the borough council, which will make the final decision.

School first to receive play award

LIVELY children have helped their school to become the first in town to win an Active Playground award.

Pupils at New Cangle Primary in Haverhill were visited by Lionel the Lion and Beth Ransome, from the South West Suffolk School Sports Partnership, who presented the award.

Lyn Beale, headteacher, said the award recognised that all 206 pupils at the school had equal access to the play equipment and were supervised by play leaders, with older pupils trained to help younger ones in play activities.

Activities include parachutes, football equipment and a wiggly wall to walk on, creating active zones to give them more structured play and raise their heart rate.

Mrs Beale said supervisor Lorna Smith and all the children had worked very hard for the award.

She said: "We are delighted to be the first school to achieve this. We have developed an outside play environment which children can access at lunchtime and playtimes, with people to support their play."

Call to probe funding for 'extra mayor'

THE role of Haverhill's "second" mayor should be reviewed after the department ran £13,000 over budget last year, a critic claims.

As well as the town having its own mayor, St Edmundsbury Borough Council has a replica ceremonial role for the whole district.

But after it emerged the position cost taxpayers almost £124,000, independent Cllr David Nettleton said it should not be immune from cuts.

He said: "Its future should be considered. There should be no sacred cows. It should be looked at."

Current borough mayor, Cllr Ian Houlder, said: "There's always going to be detractors and I don't see why they shouldn't question it. But I think it is really good value."

A spokeswoman for the council said: "The value of the mayoralty cannot be over-estimated."

"The rich civic life of the borough gives it a profile that attracts visitors and investment and our pride in it strengthens our sense of community."

"It is managed with a minimum of staff and a maximum of good will, with support from many volunteers and sponsors."

Looking back: John Buckell's new book looks at Little Wrating's response to the First World War.

New book recalls village's war days

A fascinating glimpse of how a village with fewer than 200 inhabitants sent 39 of its sons off to fight in the "war to end all wars" is provided in a new book.

John Buckell, who lives in Northampton, has penned Little Wrating and The Great War. His grandfather was born in Little Wrating and returned to the village after serving in the First World War, later moving to live in Ashley, near Newmarket.

When Mr Buckell began researching his family history, he found a wealth of information about others from the tiny village who had gone to serve their country, six of them never to return.

Mr Buckell said: "Nobody knew anything about my grandfather's war service, he had never spoken about it."

"When I started to find

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

out about other soldiers from Little Wrating I realised there was a greater story there than just my grandfather. I managed to find wartime biographies of most of them. There were six who died and a seventh whose parents lived in the village. It was such a small village, they represented about 17 per cent of the population."

The book also gives interesting insights into village life during the war years, with a prisoner of war camp established at Kedington, great efforts by local textile workers for the war effort and appeal hearings where local agricultural, food and textile workers tried to avoid conscription.

Mr Buckell said: "The stories that emerged were remarkable and very diverse. Most were young, but one man, a husband and father, enlisted at the age of 42. Nearly half of the men were volunteers, and were awarded the 1914 or 1915 Star.

"Tragedy was sometimes the lot of the survivors. One man returned from war a widower because his wife had died in the 1918 flu outbreak. Another lost his mother and brother within days to the flu while he was away on active service, and not all who returned lived to old age."

"All suffered the loss of people they had known whether family, friends or neighbours. In such a small community as Little Wrating every death must have been keenly felt."

"After the war the memorial in the church became the collective symbol of grief, as it did in every community in the land."

Mr Buckell's book is on sale for £5.99 and can be bought at Suffolk Libraries.

Young vandals damage door

TWO boys believed to be only eight or nine years old were seen throwing stones at the door of a sheltered housing complex for the elderly, damaging the glass.

The damage was caused at William Blake Court, Haverhill, between 8.15am and 8.30am last Wednesday. One of the boys is described as white, 8 or 9 years old, of stocky build with short mousy hair, wearing a red and white top and carrying a rucksack.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Victoria Anthistle at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100.

Yobs crash dumper truck

VANDALS broke into a building site by knocking over fencing and started a yellow and black dumper truck which overturned into a deep excavation, causing damage and an oil leak.

The incident happened at Homefield Road, Haverhill, between midnight on Monday and 7am on Tuesday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to the Crime Investigation Bureau (CIB) on (01473) 613500.

Solar lights are stolen

NINE solar lights were stolen from a garden at Mill Road, Kedington, in the early hours of Tuesday, May 25. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Kevin Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

'Cat' taken from van

A CATALYTIC converter was stolen from a white Fiat Ducato van in the yard of business premises at Homefield Road, Haverhill, between 5pm on Friday, and 9am on Tuesday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

Mum hits out over school's tall trees

SINGLE mum Michala Kenward says her two-year-old son Leo cannot play out in his own garden because of overhanging trees from the school next door and when she complained she was told to cut them back herself.

Michala said neither she or her mostly elderly neighbours at Beech Grove, Haverhill, had the money to pay to get the 20-30 ft high conifers cut back and did not believe it was their responsibility to do so.

She had been trying to get Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College to do something about the trees ever since she moved into her home two years ago, but said her neighbours had been trying to get the trees cut back for even longer.

Michala said: "It has got to the point where my son cannot play out in his own garden because of it."

"It is bad enough that we get glass bottles and rubbish thrown across from the school, but the trees are just ruining our gardens."

"I try to keep my lawn and my garden looking nice, but the trees overhang for four to five feet into my garden. Nothing will grow for about 10 feet from the trees."

"The fences are all falling down and the trees are hanging on to the electricity wires which must be dangerous."

"I have complained to the school and

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

they said it was a council problem. I spoke to the council and they said there was no money in the budget and we should cut them back ourselves.

"No-one wants to take responsibility for them and I am a single mum and I do not have the resources to get it done. A lot of my neighbours are elderly and one woman is also disabled."

"Nothing gets done about it and I am tired of waiting."

David Horsnell, business manager at Castle Manor, said he had not told Ms Kenward to cut the trees herself, but pointed out that she was entitled by law to cut back the overhanging branches if she wished.

He had spoken to most of the residents and written to those who were not home and the consensus so far seemed to be that people would like the trees removed completely. If everyone agreed, he hoped to have the work done at the school's expense and the fences repaired by this summer.

He said: "It affects quite a few people, so we have to make sure that everyone agrees."

"They will lose out on some privacy as there is a three-storey school building which will look straight into their gardens."

"Also with chainsaws involved, the work can only be done when the children are not at school."

Gifts for soldiers

TROOPS in Afghanistan have been receiving shoeboxes full of treats thanks to pupils at an upper school.

Year 9 and sixth form students at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill have been collecting a variety of food, drinks, puzzles and T-shirts to send out to British troops on duty there.

Private Clive Bowman, from the Royal Anglian Regiment, went into school assembly last week to thank the whole year group, of 220 pupils, for sending 25 shoeboxes of 'goodies' out to the troops.

He said: "Receiving the parcels really helped to raise the troops' morale, the messages were amazing and helped us remember that there are lots of people at home supporting us."

Helen Jones, assistant head, said: "This is an excellent opportunity for our students to help lift spirits and make a difference to our troops in Afghanistan."

At the end of assembly Private Bowman talked to a group of students about life in the army and what they needed to do to join up.

Students at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College will continue this initiative in September.

Don't be fooled by scam letter – police

A WARNING about a scam letter offering people a vast inheritance from a bank in China has been given by police.

Police are urging residents not to give out personal information, particularly bank details or passwords that could be used to access bank accounts.

The warning comes after a resident notified police of a letter he had received from a man claiming to work for a private bank in China.

The letter offers the recipient the opportunity to become the beneficiary of substantial funds due to the death of a person with the same surname.

The letter is believed to be a scam and although it does not ask for bank details at this stage, it is assumed that they might be asked for if contact is made.

Detective Sergeant Allan Forbes, of the Economic Crime Unit, said: "If something sounds too good to be true, it probably is and caution should be exercised over greed."

Police officers are not seen

Sir, Regarding your article 'Cameras to catch out rowdy youth' (Weekly News, May 27), I have been complaining and reporting rowdy youths who hang out in the play area in Quendon Place as have other residents, and I have yet to see a police officer in this area. So I hope this new initiative will be covering this area. The youths know the areas the police target and the ones they don't and they move – it is not rocket science. I have no problems in youths using the area to hang out in the evening when the younger children have gone home, but they are there at all hours which at times stop younger children using the play park. I would not let my grandchildren go there if I knew there were older children hanging out there, due to the language they use, and the fact that they leave all sort of litter including broken bottles. Also I have no problem with the green area beside the play area being used for ball games, sun bathing etc but why can't they take their litter with them or put it in a bin. Litter has become more of a problem with the take-out shops such as Subway and KFC. I shall not hold my breath waiting to see any police officers in this area, and this area needs to be included in alcohol free areas.

Thanks to caring motorists

Sir, I just want to say a huge thank you to the unknown lady and her son who stayed with and supported my son after his car accident between Brinkley and Six Mile Bottom on Tuesday. I really can't thank you enough. Also, to the driver of a Land Rover that he 'almost hit' and whose headlight he damaged – thank you for being so understanding. Also, to the very many people who slowed down or stopped to ask if my son was OK. Thankfully, my son is fine – not a scratch on him. The same can't be said for his car – though in fairness its design did probably save his life.

Thank you all so much for caring.

Struggle to make appointment

Sir, I would like to say don't believe everything you read, it is easy to massage figures to say what they want (Healthy figures for top hospital – Weekly News, May 27) I've been waiting for an appointment with a dermatologist. My GP told me it would be three months. Two weeks after seeing my

GP, I received a letter asking me to use the 'choose and book system'. I tried this and no appointments were available. I tried over several days and phoned the help number. They said they would pass my details on to the hospital and an appointment would be sent out. Two weeks later I got a letter from the hospital saying they were sorry for the problems I was experiencing, but still no appointment – that would follow. I am still waiting. I didn't realise they meant it would take three months to make an appointment. These new and fancy systems might allow the hospital to pretend it is meeting targets, but they are frustrating for patients trying to arrange appointments. Although I would always choose West Suffolk over Addenbrooke's initially, because they offer a more personal service, this opinion is slowly being changed.

Haverhill

CAMBRIDGE News columnist and Radio Cambridge-shire broadcaster Chris South delivered a slide show with no projector to a local group. Sandra Cullen introduced Chris and Janet South to give the May talk entitled "Snap out of it" at Haverhill U3A group's May meeting. Chris began by saying they had no projector, no screen and would not subject the audience to a darkened room to project their slides. The audience was asked which of the 36 pictures listed in their portfolio we would like to "see" and Chris kicked off with number 28, "The bottom line in Israel". As a daily broadcaster on Radio Cambridge, he quickly set up in words a scene difficult to capture on film, that of an extremely attractive woman living in a Kibbutz in Israel with one very apparent physical flaw, and the anecdote flowed to show how his memory of events coupled with imaginative imaging was shown to be more effective than pictures could ever be. He compared his technique to the producers of The Archers on radio, who (in his opinion) create Ambridge in far more colourful detail than the makers of Emmerdale using pictures on TV. Chris and Janet have made friends with many people in many countries and have run charitable schemes to help taxi drivers left penniless after the tsunami, an education project in Sri Lanka for girls, for the aged, and for others in need who have fallen through the charity net.

Janet took up the choice of number 16, "Shoes, shoes, shoes" to tell the bewildering and amusing changes of customised footwear required in the various rooms of a remote Japanese village hotel. Both Chris and Janet gave photographic quality of detail which went beyond just very good scenic descriptions but included their emotional reaction to events as well. In all, six sets of "slides" were presented, all interesting, all beautifully described with flawless delivery by the husband and wife team to an appreciative audience. The next U3A meeting will be at the Arts Centre on Tuesday, June 29. The talk will be given by Carl West-Meads starting at 10.30am entitled "Serving with the Ghurkhas".

Youth van ready to roll into town

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

DJ EQUIPMENT, computers and DVD players will be just some of the things rolling into town when a new activity bus hits the streets this week.

Young people in Haverhill and surrounding villages will be getting their own mobile youth project with a brand new truck, specially equipped with all kinds of activities for ages 13 to 19 years.

The idea has come from young people who are out in the town of an evening and want to use facilities, but not based in a building.

Simon Pickering, youth and community development officer at St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said: "We get up to 70 young people in Haverhill coming to a Wos Up night, which is a summertime, borough-wide mobile youth project and when we asked them about what they wanted organising in Haverhill they loved the idea of their own vehicle."

The Haverhill mobile youth project will operate four nights a week from a long wheelbase Mercedes Sprinter van that has been kitted out with seating, sports equipment and hot drink facilities.

It carries its own generator to run the DJ equipment, lap tops with internet access, games consoles, TV and DVD player and sound system on board.

The design for the van exterior has been created by Victor Murlis, a Haverhill artist, who has worked with young people and local company Stylize.

Kerry Young, Suffolk County Council youth worker, who runs the Hangar youth centre in Haverhill said: "The van will be operated by Suffolk County Council youth workers and we'll have all kinds of issue based information and educational resources.

"We will be there to connect the young people to the information they need, both in the evenings and at events such as the Big Day Out and U Festival."

Insp Andrew Mason, of Suffolk police, said: "I am very proud to be a partner in delivering this exciting new facility. I think it's one of the best things I have ever done as a police officer and the young people of Haverhill should really enjoy using the van. The fact that it is going out so many days of the week, is available to all people and is taking activities and facilities to the young people is just fabulous. All activities are going to be free.

"Suffolk police support this van in every way and I have no doubt it will be a huge success."

Appointed: the Rev Canon Dr Frances Ward will take up her new position on October 16.

CP

Dean looking forward to rediscovering county

A LEADING cleric has been appointed the new dean of St Edmundsbury.

The Rev Canon Dr Frances Ward, currently a residentiary canon and canon theologian at Bradford Cathedral, will move to Suffolk this summer, and take up the position on October 16.

Since being ordained in 1989, Frances has been a vicar at parishes in Manchester and Bury, before taking on her current role, in which she has spearheaded moves to build relationships with the Muslim community in Bradford.

She said: "Suffolk holds real attractions for me. As a child I sailed the estuaries of Suffolk and North Essex, and will relish rediscovering this beautiful part of Britain, and serving the town of Bury St Edmunds and the diocese as dean.

"The diocese and cathedral will celebrate their centenary in 2014, and already all sorts of ideas are shaping to make that a year to remember."

The Rt Rev Nigel Stock, Bishop of St Edmundsbury and Ipswich, said: "I am delighted that Frances is coming to the cathedral at this very exciting time. She is a person of real spiritual depth with an ability to relate well to all the communities the church serves."

The mother-of-four is married to Peter, a consultant paediatrician, and replaces the Very Rev Neil Collings, who retired in August 2009 due to ill health.

Police are linking spate of thefts in rural area

A SPATE of rural thefts in the Wickhambrook area is being linked by police.

A mini digger trailer and two ride-on mowers have been stolen in six raids on properties in the past two weeks.

The latest three thefts took place on Wednesday, May 26. Thieves broke into a garage at a property in Attleton Green, Wickhambrook, between 6.30pm and 10pm, by forcing a door and stole a red Countex ride-on lawnmower.

There was also a break-in at a garage in Attleton Green at around the same time but nothing was stolen. Anyone with information in relation to these incidents should contact Pc Richard Baker.

Meanwhile, thieves broke into a farmyard in Cowlinge between 4pm on May 26 and 8.30am on May 27 by damaging gates and stole a Wessex four-wheeled mini digger trailer. Pc Trish Sinclair is investigating.

The crimes have been linked with two earlier ones at Malting End, Wickhambrook, between 8pm on Thursday, May 20, and 8.45am the following day, in which thieves broke into stables by cutting a padlock and stole a red Briggs and Stratton ride-on lawnmower. An orange chainsaw was also stolen from a shed.

Thieves also broke into a garage by forcing a lock and stole a lawnmower between May 19 and 21. Sgt Kevin Horton is investigating.

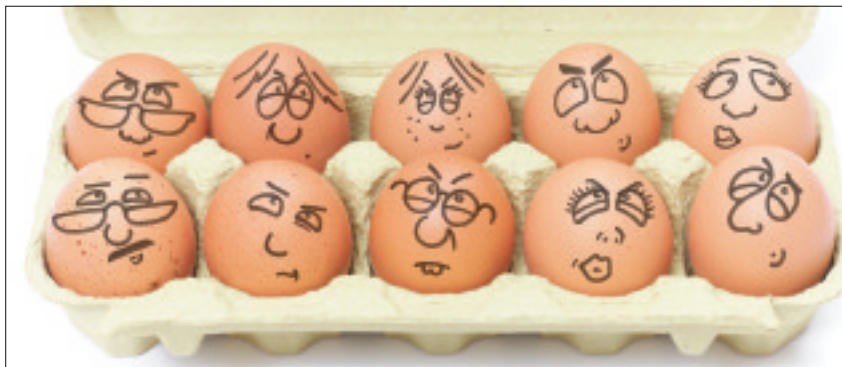

Anyone with information on any of these incidents should ring (01284) 774100 or Crime-stoppers on 0800 555 111.

Housing chief to outline aims

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

NEWLY-appointed housing chief Karen Mayhew is to speak on her role of providing affordable family homes in the Haverhill area.

The chief executive of Havebury Housing Partnership has been invited to talk at the next Best in Haverhill meeting about the role that Havebury plays in the town.

The event will take place at Days Inn, Haverhill, from 10am to 11.30am, on Thursday, June 17, continuing the theme of "Wanting the best for Haverhill".

The not-for-profit housing association has just under 3,000 homes in Haverhill and the surrounding villages and has invested £25 million in its housing stock in these areas since 2002.

Elaine Carr, owner of The Best of Haverhill, said: "Havebury play an important role within Haverhill.

"They are the largest landlord in the town providing good quality homes for many families who are employed by local businesses as well as homes for the elderly and the vulnerable.

"Where possible Havebury works with local businesses to deliver new homes and services in the area, which helps to generate and retain wealth within the local economy.

"Havebury are also committed to community projects and their Community Investment Fund has enabled a number of projects to get off the ground.

"As local businesses I think it is important that we understand the scope and roles of the different stakeholders in the town. Havebury is a major stakeholder and has very clear plans for future development in Haverhill."

Any local businesses which would like to attend this free event should call Elaine Carr on (01440) 710 158 or email Haverhill@thebestof.co.uk

Boy's bike stolen

A MOTHER is hoping someone will be able to help get her son's bike back after it was stolen from outside a friend's house. Callum Winter's distinctive red and white BMX bike was in the front garden of a house he was visiting in Cambridge Way, Haverhill, on Thursday, May 20, when it was taken. Callum, nine, of Weddell Road, Haverhill, had only had the bike for two months, after his parents bought it on the Internet for £180. The bike had a white seat, red handle bars and white rubber on the inside of the tyres which would still show up if it had been sprayed a different colour.

Anyone who thinks they have seen the bike or who has any information about it should contact Haverhill police on (01284) 774100.

Charities benefit from fund-raising drive by golfers

SEVERAL charities have benefited from the generosity of golfers taking part in an annual tournament which is looking for more teams for this year's event.

Haverhill Rotary Club joins Haverhill Golf Club in organising the annual Haverhill Charity Golf Classic, also run in association with the Haverhill Weekly News. The Charity Golf Classic is on Saturday, June 26, this year and it is still possible to register a team via Haverhill Golf Club.

Local groups were invited to apply for some of the proceeds of last year's event and those who were successful recently received more than £2,000 between them at a meeting of Haverhill Rotary Club. They were: Haverhill Sinfonia –

£250, Polished Brass Fund – £400, Haverhill Volunteer Centre – £400, 1st Haverhill Scout Group – £495 and Parent Support Advisor – £530.

Police bid to improve service

NEW computer equipment and a streamlining of senior management should mean a faster response to the public from Suffolk police.

The changes would see a reduction in the number of senior officers, with one chief superintendent for the whole county instead of three, and five superintendents.

Acting Superintendent Chief Inspector Martin Barnes-Smith said he was confident that the new command structure would mean a more efficient service to the public and enable more Safer Neighbourhood Team officers to be out on their beats.

He said: "We are using new technology to make sure the closest officer deals with 999 calls and they no longer stop at county borders. It is almost like the old World War 1 map room where they push figures around. It is early days, but so far it seems to be working very well.

"We have had the hottest weekend of the year and nationally calls to police went right up, but we coped very well and recovered well.

"We are trialling a system where officers are out on patrol at the times of day when there are most people about so that we increase our visibility to reassure the public and so that they can approach us with any issues they have.

"We are never going to have a police officer on every corner, but we are increasing our visibility and the ways in which the public can interact with us.

"Safer Neighbourhood Team officers will be out patrolling their beats. We want to keep our local knowledge locally."

Inspector Chris Galley, new sector commander for Haverhill, said there had been a very good response in the town to the first IMPACT Day in the county and he encouraged members of the public to come forward with issues they wanted tackled to help the police set their priorities.

Tasking meetings are open to the public and the next one is at Haverhill Fire Station next Thursday at 2pm.

Stuart aims to lift gold medal

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Bodybuilder Stuart Thomson is aiming to win a gold medal at the ASN East Anglia Bodybuilding Championships on Sunday.

Stuart, 28, of Vanners Road, Haverhill, will take part in the event at the Britannia Pier in Great Yarmouth.

A member of Haverhill Leisure Centre gym for the last 12 years, Stuart started weight training at 16 after watching his dad Dale train.

He said: "My dad was my idol and my inspiration really. I wanted to be fit and healthy like him so I started using weights at home as a teenager and, as soon as I was 16, I joined the gym at Haverhill Leisure Centre." Stuart is supported by Abbeycroft Leisure, owners of the centre.

Stuart has been training intensively for the last 22 weeks for the competition and if he does well will automatically go through to the nationals in Birmingham on November 28. He will enter the competition on Sunday as Stuart Thomson from Abbeycroft Leisure.

He said: "To do well in the East Anglian championships would be an enormous achievement after the determination and dedication I have put in over the last 22 weeks. In my mind, to get anything less than a gold medal would be a real disappointment."

"It was the staff at Haverhill Leisure Centre who encouraged me to pursue weight training as more than just a form of exercise putting me in touch with an ex-bodybuilder who has helped to devise a training programme specifically for this competition."

"Abbeycroft Leisure has provided my kit for the competition and I will enter under their name. I cannot thank them enough as it has given me real confidence to do this."

Determined: Stuart Thomson has been training intensively for 22 weeks. CP

In preparation for the competition, Stuart has changed his diet and increased his cardio vascular workout to burn off fat while increasing muscle.

Dominic Greenwood, general manager at Haverhill Leisure Centre, said: "Stuart's achievements have been amazing."

"We have watched him progress for many years here at the centre and I'm really pleased that he has decided to enter the championships as a professional bodybuilder."

"We are behind him 100 per cent and wish him every success on June 6."

Leisure centre makes the mark

LEISURE centre bosses have been given an award for their ethical business practices.

Abbeycroft Leisure, which runs Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds leisure centres, has been given a social enterprise mark which recognises businesses which trade for the benefit of people and the planet.

The social enterprise mark aims to raise awareness of what social enterprises do in order to get more people to buy from, engage with, start up and work for social enterprises.

Lucy Findlay, from the Social Enterprise Mark Company, said: "We are delighted to award the prestigious social enterprise mark to Abbeycroft Leisure."

"As the distinctive and exciting brand for social enterprise, the mark identifies businesses which meet defined criteria, enabling consumers to recognise those that are trading to benefit people and planet."

"It also helps those businesses promote their business ethics and values."

"We hope that the social enterprise mark will do for social enterprise what the fair trade mark did for fair trade."

Warren Smyth, Abbeycroft Leisure's chief executive, said: "We are really pleased to have been awarded the social enterprise mark."

"The facilities and activities at our leisure centres bring the whole community together as well as helping them to keep fit and active."

Performing arts day to celebrate achievement

A SPECIAL event is being planned at a church to celebrate its director of music receiving his degree in sacred music.

Richard Hart, 62, (pictured right) who leads the choir at St Mary's Church, Haverhill, has achieved the upper honours degree in Sacred Music Studies from Bangor University, while working full time and managing to swell the ranks of choir members from five to 23.

To celebrate his achievement, the church is organising a Junior Performing Arts Day on Saturday, June 12, from 10am to 2pm. The competition will be open to all children up to 16 years of age. The categories will be vocal, soloists or groups, and also instrumentals with any instrument, solo or groups.

A trophy, The Richard Hart Junior Performing Arts Trophy, will be awarded to the overall winner and there will also be rosettes presented to all entrants.

The entry fee will be £2.50, with all proceeds going to St Mary's Church Music Fund. Entry forms are available from St Mary's Church on Friday or Saturday mornings between 10am and noon, or Sunday after the service from 10.45am to 11.15am, or call Betty McLatchy on (01440) 714338 for more information.

Mr Hart started his studies when he was director of music for 10 years at St Faith's Church in Kings Lynn, and continued when he was appointed at Haverhill Parish Church. He received his upper honours degree in Sacred Music at a ceremony at Durham Cathedral, along with Aled Jones, who was awarded honorary membership of the Royal School of Church Music for his contribution as a singer and as a presenter, especially for Songs of Praise.

Summer at Shepreth

ADVERTISEMENT

There are so many weird and wonderful animals waiting to meet you at Shepreth Wildlife Park, and with events running every half an hour throughout the day, you are sure to have an unforgettable family animal adventure.

Let our keepers captivate you with their in-depth knowledge, feed the ducks and sheep or even stroke a skunk in our inspirational 'Discovery Centre'. And if that wasn't enough to keep your little ones entertained, your children can let off steam in the outdoor play area, with its galleon ship, slides, zip line and trampolines or even venture to Ringo's Playbarn, our indoor soft play, full of new experiences!

Some recent additions to the animal collection include; 'Ruby' the M and wolf who is busy settling into her new home, 'Ashanti' the cusimansi, and an entire family of marmosets in the South American themed 'Tropical House'.

Moonshadow, the proud polecat mother and her ten hungry kits settle in the native species woodland, while keepers eagerly await mother number two, Artemis, to bring hers out on show for all to see. The two breeding pairs of polecat are part of a national breeding programme to re-establish polecats in the wild.

Shepreth Wildlife Park held a Lemur Funday in June, to help raise awareness for the Madagascar Fauna Group. The day was a great success, with lots of fun and games for all the family, face painting, competitions and raffles. All the proceeds from the day went towards the Madagascar Fauna Group, who work to preserve the island of Madagascar, the only place in the world you will find these enchanting primates.

Gates open to garden

A ROMANTIC 18th century walled garden will be open to the public next week.

The garden at Spencers was laid out by Lady Anne Spencer, granddaughter of the 1st Duke of Marlborough, who also built the house. It has recently been renovated by designer Tom Stuart-Smith and it is believed to have the oldest greenhouse in Essex.

Now the garden gates are to be thrown open to the public as part of the National Gardens Scheme on Saturday, June 12.

The house, which is not open, was once the home of cabinet minister Lord Butler and the garden boasts armies of 'true-blue' Lord Butler delphiniums as well as a vibrant, green clover garden.

Spencers is set in mature grounds with many ancient trees. A Victorian woodland garden nestles in a little valley formed by the young River Colne.

The National Gardens Scheme supports a number of charities including Macmillan Cancer Support, Marie Curie Cancer Care and Help the Hospices. Admission is £4 for adults and the garden will be open from 2-5pm. It will be open again on September 4.

Three find work thanks to scheme

THREE young people have benefited from an apprenticeship scheme which offers wage support to employers in small and medium sized businesses.

James Oakley, 19, from Great Bradley, near Newmarket, and Kirsty Foster, 17, and Victoria Gibson, 19, both from Haverhill, have been taken on as playwork apprentices at Tiny Toes Child-care in Haverhill.

Amanda Ewings, managing director of Tiny Toes, said: "The scheme is a great way to introduce and encourage young people into the world of employment and training.

"Without the wage subsidy the apprenticeship scheme offers, it would not have been possible for me to employ the apprentices, and hopefully in the future I can employ and help some more."

Work based learning adviser Michelle Gibson said: "Tiny Toes has given three young people an excellent opportunity to work in a very friendly and supportive environment. It has been a pleasure to work in partnership with Amanda."

Amanda said: "The apprentices have been a real asset to my business and within the nursery they are enthusiastic, eager to learn and hard working. Michelle has been very supportive and is always at hand to help me when I contact her."

James said: "I submitted my CV to West Suffolk College at an open event in Haverhill. Michelle contacted me and, within a week, I had an interview appointment with Tiny Toes. I really appreciate the opportunity I have been given and I am enjoying my job."

Christie court drama to keep you guessing

GET your thinking caps on as Agatha Christie's classic whodunit Witness for the Prosecution takes to the stage this week.

BY JENNIFER SHELTON

When Emily French, an elderly widow who recently left her considerable estate to the charming young Leonard, is found dead, suspicions fly and clues are sought which might explain her mysterious and suspicious demise.

Though he protests his innocence, Leonard quickly becomes the prime suspect amongst those affected. His plea hinges on his wife's testimony, until the sudden appearance of a mysterious young woman brings forth an unexpected clue.

As the plot unfolds, Christie takes the audience into the depths of the Old Bailey, where cool hatreds and hot tensions fly.

Will the truth be revealed in time or will Leonard be declared guilty at the hands of the witness for the prosecution?

In a world where everyone seems to be harbouring a dark secret, this gripping courtroom drama, full of twists and turns, will keep you guessing until the final fatal moment.

Witness for the Prosecution, by the Agatha Christie Theatre Company, follows the success of The Hollow, The Unexpected Guest, And Then There Were None and last year's hit, Spider's Web.

After huge stage success on its release in 1953, Witness for the Prosecution was filmed by Billy Wilder in 1957, starring Tyrone Power, Marlene Dietrich and Charles Laughton. It became the year's biggest box office hit and was nominated for seven Oscars.

With a cast including Denis Lill and Heartbeat's Lisa Kay, this latest dramatisation promises to be another thrilling tale, expertly told, by this celebrated company.

■ Witness for the Prosecution is at Cambridge Arts Theatre until Saturday. Tickets cost from £10. Contact (01223) 503333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

Players to tread festival boards

IT'S THAT time of year again – in the run up to the Haverhill Festival, the 2010 Haverhill Drama Festival will take to the stage next week.

Haverhill Arts Centre will host the annual showcase of talent from Wednesday to Friday, June 11.

The Wilestead Players, who were 2009 winners, are unable to attend this year but there are two entries from the local Centre Stage Company, as well as Stretham Players, Skateboard Theatre Company, Sky Blue and Dramawise, from Sawston).

The programme includes:

■ Wednesday, June 9: Stretham Players in There's Something About Bernard by Richard James; and Skateboard Theatre Company's Love in a Glass Jar by Nancy Harris.

■ Thursday, June 10: Sky Blue and Dramawise's The Method by Frances Bartram; and Centre Stage Company in The Cobblers Ball by Jim Spernick.

■ Friday, June 11: Centre Stage Company's To All Intents and Purposes by David Hart.

This is a free but ticketed event which starts at 7.30pm each night. The adjudicator will be Paul Fowler. Call in or phone (01440) 714140 for tickets.

■ There's also action on the big screen with DreamWorks' latest adventure, How to Train Your Dragon (PG). A young Viking boy dreams of becoming a famous dragon slayer, but soon discovers there is much more to these feared creatures than meets the eye. It's on tomorrow at 10.30am.

Then there's the swords-and-sandals epic, Clash of the Titans (12A), starring Ralph Fiennes and Liam Neeson. It is showing tomorrow at 7.45pm when Perseus, son of Zeus, is forced to make a treacherous journey into the underworld to prevent a demon uprising threatening Earth.

■ For more details about the shows, or to book tickets, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Setbacks threaten to send plans Haywire

BY JENNIFER SHELTON

ALEC Firth is the sort of man who leaves nothing to chance, who "looks both ways down a one way street."

So when he plans to send his wife off to Europe so that he can go to Marbella with his mistress, he's well prepared for the odd unexpected setback. But even Alec's powers are tested by the sudden arrival of several unexpected guests.

Appearing in rapid succession at his door is a new untrained puppy, his mother, who has escaped her care home, his son Jamie (complete with broken ankle) and his daughter Mandy, who has a particularly unwelcome surprise in store for her old dad.

Will Alec's fall back positions save him and get him to Spain, or will he find his best laid plans are all about to go haywire?

Haywire is the new production from St John's Players, who have been putting on shows in the area since 1947 and are one of the oldest drama groups in Cambridge.

Written by Eric Chappell, co-writer of sitcom Rising Damp and the play Wife After Death, which showed at the Cambridge Arts Theatre earlier this year, expect plenty of laughs and well-timed lines from this raucous comedy.

■ The play is running at the Cambridge Arts Theatre until Saturday. Tickets from £10 on (01223) 503333 or visit www.cambridgearts theatre.com

The big film

SEX AND THE CITY 2 (15, 146 mins) Comedy. Sarah Jessica Parker, Kim Cattrall, Cynthia Nixon, Kristin Davis, Chris Noth, John Corbett, Alice Eve, Raza Jaffrey, David Eigenberg, Evan Handler, Willie Garson, Mario Cantone. Director: Michael Patrick King.

OPENING to the strains of Alicia Keys' song Empire State Of Mind (Part II) Broken Down, a valentine to the concrete jungle of New York City, Sex And The City 2 takes another bite out of the Big Apple with the expertly coiffed cast of the hit TV series.

The gossamer-thin plot is more flimsy than some of the characters' dresses and at 146 minutes, the sequel overstays its welcome by the best part of an hour.

However, fans of the sassy gal pals will be in seventh heaven at the endless parade of chic couture and the return of Carrie's old flame Aidan (Corbett), who stirs up long-dormant feelings.

The fashions might be designer label, but the film's sense of humour is bargain basement: Sex And The City 2 swags at bouncing cleavage in a wet T-shirt and a visibly aroused man in loose fitting linen trousers.

Neurotic writer Carrie Bradshaw (Parker) is starting to realise that life after saying "I do" to paramour Mr Big (Noth) isn't everything she thought it would be. Samantha (Cattrall) has moved back to New York, battling valiantly against menopause, and Miranda (Nixon) has forgiven adulterous husband Steve (Eigenberg), targeting her rage instead at her chauvinistic boss. Meanwhile, Charlotte (Davis) is struggling to be the perfect wife to ever-dependable husband Harry (Handler) and a perfect mother to their two daughters. Thankfully, cheery Irish nanny Erin (Eve) is always on hand to entertain the youngsters.

By chance – or rather dramatic contrivance – Samantha is invited to the United Arab Emirates to sample the delights of a newly opened luxury hotel, and takes her chums along for the ride.

Sex And The City 2 is a succession of slick yet hollow set pieces, loosely stitched together to resemble a narrative.

Miranda is almost surplus to requirements and Carrie's vacillations once again take centre stage, culminating in a preposterous race around a spice market.

As the girls fly home after their desert adventure, a stewardess offers Carrie a customs form and asks if she has anything to declare.

"Yes, I'm a mess," confirms the writer. She might as well be speaking about the film.

Beware poisonous plants as summer draws you outside

Ever wondered what nasties might lurk in your garden – and I'm not talking slugs, snails, grey mould or aphids?

No, as the weather warms up and the kids venture out to play in the garden, it may be worth checking the potency of certain quite common plants which can leave tummy upsets, rashes or other allergic reactions.

The Duchess of Northumberland is well versed in identifying poisonous plants, having created the famous Poison Garden, which is among the attractions at Alnwick Garden and Alnwick Castle.

"If you are a gardener you will almost certainly have half a dozen of the plants which are in the Poison Garden," she says.

"Aconitum, common monkshood, is an unbelievable killer and the only time you'd ever take aconitum internally is if you were trying to kill off another poison."

"If it doesn't find another poison to kill in the body it will kill you."

Bearing tall spikes of helmeted flowers in blues and purples in the summer, it's poisonous and a skin irritant, causing burning of the lips and mouth, intense vomiting,

by Hannah Stephenson

diarrhoea and spasms.

Many of us have laurel in our gardens: it belongs to the family that includes apple, cherry, plum and almond.

"When people chop down their laurel hedges the sap gives off an unbelievably soporific effect and they find themselves falling asleep," the Duchess explains. "You only have to smell the sap to be affected by it."

Hemlock, foxgloves, aquilegia, autumn crocus (colchicum autumnale), laburnum and hellebores are all common plants you might find in your garden or in a hedgerow, and all have different levels of toxicity – you can find them all in the Poison Garden in Alnwick.

The amount you would have to ingest to do real damage varies from plant to plant, says the Duchess, whose knowledge of poisonous plants has inspired a new teenage novel, The Poison Diaries, by Maryrose Wood, in which some of the plants are featured.

"There was a case a few months ago where a woman poisoned her former lover and his fiancée in an act of jealous revenge by putting aconitum in a curry. The man died and his fiancée ended up in a coma but survived because she'd eaten less of the curry. People have forgotten these plants' capabilities."

The Poison Garden, which is licensed to grow cannabis and strychnine to help educate children to the dangers of drugs, also houses common plants you'd find in any garden centre.

Foxgloves (digitalis) were once used as a heart remedy but can also poison you, she says. Both the wild and hybrids produce tall spikes bearing bell-like flowers in a variety of colours. All parts of the plant are poisonous, the leaves are more poisonous before flowering and the seeds are most toxic.

Avoid giant hogweed, as if you are scratched by its leaves your skin becomes photo-sensitive and allergic to sunlight. Symptoms include a rash and itching.

Euphorbia sap can do the same thing, with symptoms recurring when the sun comes out – and there's no cure for it.

Many bulbs including daffodils, tulips and snowdrops are also poisonous, but it is the bulb part rather than the flowers that are toxic. Medieval maids set the bulbs about to poison mice and other vermin.

A lot of people grow datura (Brugmansia suaveolens), otherwise known as Angel's trumpet, in their greenhouses, yet all parts of this plant are poisonous if ingested.

"When I was in Argentina a couple of years ago they were growing wild on the roadside and I said to the guide, 'Do you know how poisonous these plants are?' He said, 'We use it to send babies to sleep, by putting a flower on their pillow'. I told him that if they left it there all night the baby would be dead by morning," the Duchess recalls.

If you think your child has eaten a poisonous plant or suffered an allergic reaction to it, seek medical attention from A&E at your local hospital, taking a plant sample with you.

But don't panic.

"By and large the main cause of injury in the garden is falling off ladders," says Guy Barter, RHS head of horticultural advisory services.

HAVING been on sale in the UK for more than 10 years – and with over 270,000 examples sold – Citroën UK is bidding a fond farewell to one of the most popular MPVs of all time – the Xsara Picasso.

Presented to critical acclaim at the Geneva Motor Show in 1999, the Xsara Picasso quickly established itself as the best-selling retail multi-purpose vehicle in the UK. Families at the start of the new millennium soon recognised the appeal of the car's distinctive styling, innovative cabin design, bright and spacious interior, and impressive safety credentials.

The model was also popularised by a long-running TV advertising campaign that featured mischievous and artistically-talented production line robots – one of the most memorable advertising campaigns of the time.

Combining practicality with fresh new styling, Xsara Picasso soon became the family vehicle of choice for thousands of parents across the country – who immediately felt the benefit of its numerous storage compartments for clutter-free driving and unique features like the wheeled 'Modubox' for carrying shopping.

An environmental pioneer for the segment, Xsara Picasso later became available with an HDi 110hp DPFS engine – so becoming the first compact MPV to be fitted with a diesel particulate filter.

Building on Xsara Picasso's success, Citroën expanded the Picasso range in January 2007 with the arrival of the larger 7-seat Grand C4 Picasso – followed by the 5-seat C4 Picasso later that spring.

In 2009, Citroën launched the award-winning C3 Picasso. A compact MPV for the new decade, C3 Picasso shares the same innovative and distinctive spirit as Xsara Picasso, with its class-leading space and modularity in a new and funky design.

With more than 12,000 examples sold in the UK, C3 Picasso is now winning the hearts and minds of a new generation of MPV buyers who value stand-out styling, innovative interior design, flexible carrying capacity, low CO2 emissions and impressive fuel economy.

Adios: Though the Citroën Xsara Picasso is sure to enjoy a long life in the resale market.

Xsara Picasso era is ending

HAVING been on sale in the UK for more than 10 years – and with over 270,000 examples sold – Citroën UK is bidding a fond farewell to one of the most popular MPVs of all time – the Xsara Picasso.

Presented to critical acclaim at the Geneva Motor Show in 1999, the Xsara Picasso quickly established itself as the best-selling retail multi-purpose vehicle in the UK. Families at the start of the new millennium soon recognised the appeal of the car's distinctive styling, innovative cabin design, bright and spacious interior, and impressive safety credentials.

The model was also popularised by a long-running TV advertising campaign that featured mischievous and artistically-talented production line robots – one of the most memorable advertising campaigns of the time.

Combining practicality with fresh new styling, Xsara Picasso soon became the family vehicle of choice for thousands of parents across the country – who immediately felt the benefit of its numerous storage compartments for clutter-free driving and unique features like the wheeled 'Modubox' for carrying shopping.

An environmental pioneer for the segment, Xsara Picasso later became available with an HDi 110hp DPFS engine – so becoming the first compact MPV to be fitted with a diesel particulate filter.

Building on Xsara Picasso's success, Citroën expanded the Picasso range in January 2007 with the arrival of the larger 7-seat Grand C4 Picasso – followed by the 5-seat C4 Picasso later that spring.

In 2009, Citroën launched the award-winning C3 Picasso. A compact MPV for the new decade, C3 Picasso shares the same innovative and distinctive spirit as Xsara Picasso, with its class-leading space and modularity in a new and funky design.

With more than 12,000 examples sold in the UK, C3 Picasso is now winning the hearts and minds of a new generation of MPV buyers who value stand-out styling, innovative interior design, flexible carrying capacity, low CO2 emissions and impressive fuel economy.

Club's aces make the grade

SEVEN members of the Haverhill Do Jang Tang Soo Do Korean Martial Arts Club went up in the world at a regional Examination Grading.

The grading in St Ives was overseen by the 10 Dan Grand Master Kang Uk Lee.

Haverhill instructors Dean Blackwell and Craig Phillips were also awarded new grades by Kang Uk Lee.

Blackwell was awarded his 3rd Dan black belt and Phillips his 2nd Dan black belt.

Blackwell said: "The Haverhill students have been training very hard with Master Jason Miller, working hard on their forms (Hyungs), fighting (Dae Ryun) and self defence (Ho Sin Sul) in preparation for this examination.

"We had seven students grade, each showing the hard work that they have put in class over months and even years.

"Well done to everyone, you have done the Haverhill Do Jang proud."

On Blackwell and Phillips' awards, Master Miller said: "Congratulations to them both as they are great ambassadors for teaching and promoting Tang Soo Do."

For anyone interested in trying Tang Soo Do, sessions are held on Tuesdays at Leiston Road, Haverhill, from 7 to 9pm and in the gym at Samuel Ward Upper School between the same times on Thursdays. The first lesson is free – just wear loose clothing and bring some water.

Top performers: Award winners from Haverhill Rovers girls line up after the club's presentation night on Saturday. The club would like to thank Harry from Deja Vu for sponsoring the girls and for supplying the food. Rovers are also looking for new players aged 10 to 16 for next season. Anyone interested, please contact Steve on 07759 016470. CP Helions Bumpstead are clear at the top of Division 3B after beating Balsham by 48 runs. Helions put up 145 for 3 and Balsham could reach only 97 for 3 in response, despite an unbeaten 48 from Steve Saunders.

In the same division, Abington II were dismissed for 109 by Linton, only to stop their opponents on 87 for 7 to win by 22 runs.

■ Saturday's cricket programme was ruined by the rain, with Haverhill and Weston Colville among the clubs whose matches fell victim.

Clare seeking new management team

Birdie run sees Wilby advance

HAVERHILL head professional Paul Wilby is through to the semi-finals of the Suffolk Professional Winter Matchplay after beating Newton Green professional Tim Cooper at Stowmarket Golf Club.

Wilby, whose round included five birdies, was three up after 11, but Cooper fought back and won the 13th, 14th and 16th holes with birdies.

However, Wilby went on to win 17 and 18 to triumph two-up and set up a tie against either Haverhill assistant pro Harry Mills or Aldeburgh's Keith Preston, to be played at Thorpeness.

■ Peter McLennan was the overall winner of the IFF Challenge having shot the lowest gross score of the day with a fabulous 80-13-67.

Division One: 1 Chris Vince 82-6-77, 2 Stuart King 89-12-77, 3 Eric Armstrong 94-12-82.
Division Two: 1 Peter McLennan, 80-13-67, 2 Steve Piotrowski 85-16-69, 3 Steven Brooks 88-19-69.
Division Three: 1 Barry Shuter 90-22-68, 2 Peter Amies 95-23-72, 3 Peter Mercer 96-22-74.

■ The Seniors continued their recent winning streak by beating Bourn 4½-3½ at home. The match was followed by a fun three clubs and a putter event, open to all club members and played over 10 holes as a stableford format.

Winner with 23 points was junior Liam Merritt, ahead of fellow junior Stephen Boyles on 21 and Keith Donno with 20.

■ Paul Borowy won the Social Committee Cup in extremely blustery conditions on Sunday. Borowy scored 40 points to win on countback from Richard Parker. Both players have subsequently had their handicaps reduced to 12.

Third was Andy Craig on 38, ahead of Mick Dalena on countback. The top score from the ladies' section was from captain Sally Price, who scored a very creditable 33.

■ Bank Holiday Monday's Mick Beddoes Cup, in mixed greensomes stableford format, saw some very good scores.

Just edging out last year's winners were father and daughter team, Steve and Leah Nichols with 41 points.

It was a double celebration for the Nichols family, as Leah had just got engaged to her boyfriend, Matt Letcher.

Defending champions Catie Heathfield and Richard Peck finished second with 40, with Sheila and Gordon Price third on 39.

Winners all: Paul Borowy shows off the Social Committee Cup (left), while Leah and Steve Nichols (above) claimed victory in the Mick Beddoes Cup.

» Cricket: Midweek Lge Ketteridge haul helps Haverhill move up table

STUART Ketteridge and Adam Dellar led the way as Haverhill maintained their unbeaten start in Division One of the Adams Harrison Midweek League, going joint top of the table by beating Saffron Walden.

Ketteridge took 3 for 24 as Walden made a lowly 85 for 9 in their overs. Dellar's 38 and 26 from Neil Winter ensured Haverhill reached 86 for 4 in reply.

Babraham left it to the last ball to beat Weston Colville in another low-scoring match.

Colville put up a target of 89 for 8 as Babraham's Stuart Morrison snapped up 4 for 22. Ben Morgan (38) and Chris Palmer (26) then took the victors to 93 for 8, despite Evan Gard and Fred Scruby both taking 3 for 13 for Colville.

In Division Two, Philip Salt's 68 was in vain for Ashdon as they fell short on 144 for 5 in response to Manor's 176 for 4. Martyn Farrant hit 73 and Rob Dovaston 50 for the winning side.

Abington remain unbeaten after a 50-run win over Hordon. Opener Simon Bishop hit 78 not out and Keith Vincent added an undefeated 66 in Abington's 167 for 2.

Vincent then completed a fine all-round performance with 4 for 17 to dismiss Hordon for 117.

Mill Green (85 for 9) were beaten by five wickets by Long Melford (87 for 5) in a reduced-overs match.

In Division 3A, Haverhill II's 130 for 4 was too good for Highpoint as a miserly
